

Do you have proven experience of working within a Gas/Plumbing environment? Would you like to work for one of the South West's biggest employers?

South West Water provide reliable, efficient and high-quality drinking water and waste water services throughout Cornwall, Devon, and parts of Somerset and Dorset. We believe that by investing in the future of our region, we are not only improving the quality of life for today's residents and visitors but are also taking responsibility for future generations. Our aim is to continually drive up standards, particularly in the areas that matter most to our customers and be amongst the best in the water industry.

We now have an exciting opportunity has arisen to join one of the team as a Commercial Heating Engineer in Bournemouth.

The Role

The Commercial Heating Engineer will provide a high quality and cost-effective Commercial Heating system maintenance, installation and repair service to a range of customers in the Dorset area. Main duties will be on the emphasis of servicing, repairing and installing gas, oil and solid fuel heating systems and plumbing works at various commercial properties, helping to build and enhance the business reputation. Your duties will include:

- Undertake the servicing, repairing and maintenance of gas, oil and solid fuel heating systems.
- Carry out other maintenance, repairs and remedial work as directed, including plumbing.
- Carry out installation, operation, maintenance and repairs of plant and equipment
- Complete works in accordance with specifications and in compliance with the relevant Legislation, relevant trade body and industry standards and best practice
- Participate in an emergency 'out of hours' service as required on a rota basis
- Be responsible for the care and condition of all vehicles, plant tools and equipment issued.
- Ensure that all necessary documentation and/or verbal reports relating to unsafe equipment are immediately communicated to their line manager.
- To be available for call out every 3rd week of the month Friday to Friday during 1700 – 0800.

The Ideal Commercial Heating Engineer:

In order to be successful for this role, you must possess the following skills and experience:

- Domestic and Commercial Gas Safe Registrations
- City & Guilds Plumbing & Heating qualifications or similar
- Demonstrate you have a sound understanding of business goals and objectives
- Evidence of excellent communication skills, both written and verbal along with listening and questioning skills
- Evidence you have excellent organisational and time management skills
- Demonstrate attention to detail
- Understand and follow lone working practices
- Adaptable to change in a flexible working environment
- Demonstrate interpersonal skills by building strong working relationships with team members and peers
- Evidence you are self-motivated and able to respond to feedback and supervision in a positive manner
- Full UK driving license

Rewards & Benefits:

In return for your hard work as our Commercial Heating Engineer, we can offer a competitive salary of £30,000 to £32,000 per annum depending on skills also additional call out rates and experience 000 - plus a range of excellent benefits, working within in a team-orientated and collaborative environment, for a company that strives to be environmentally, socially and economically sustainable.

If you have the skills and experience to join our team as a Commercial Heating Engineer, click apply today.